
A Call to Pray
by Chaplain Joy L. Smith

May an ever-expanding revelation and realization of God take place in the earth, an elevation of human consciousness. Bring a holy, hearted, sweeping wind to clear our minds as humans so that we can hear You speak more clearly within our souls. For it is said that You, God, are love and surely it is only the knowledge of love that can truly bring peace and hope to hearts.

Expedite our capacity to know Your will and Your desires for us and our earth, Dear God. Certainly truth and love came to us through Jesus Christ, whom You sent and Love comes to us daily through one another. We rejoice in this always and forever. Help us, as globe-trotters to entrain ourselves to the "Voice of Love" within.

"Oh that our hearts will beat with love, mercy, compassion and that peace can come to the world through ending the fear among nations, greed within individuals or corporations. Bring the many pieces of the puzzle together that will show us what is needed to end poverty, isolation, loneliness, homelessness, and addictions that cripple minds and destroy bodies.

Increase our ability to think big and to pray more for the things that are separating us and wounding us within this world . . . help us to tend to the needs of this beautiful planet and its atmosphere. Heighten our ability to care about matters beyond our own front yard . . . and stir us to take action according to what is impossible for us to achieve. Instill in each human heart greater hope, inspiration, and the desire to ever be led by love.

Amen.
